Increasing Collaboration to Get More Done, Faster

What is Unified Communications & Collaboration?

Unified Communications and Collaboration (UCC) is the combination of separate channels of communication into a single, cohesive user experience across multiple devices. It streamlines your day-to-day work processes by making it easier for you to connect with others and get the information you need faster and more efficiently. UCC allows you to synchronize various communications technologies – such as instant messaging, VoIP, video & web conferencing, desktop sharing, data sharing, etc. – into a combined platform, extending your presence beyond one device. With that, you can seamlessly share knowledge and collaborate with your team at any given time.

But why is unified communications and collaboration important to your business? Your organization's success depends on its ability to communicate and collaborate effectively in the workplace. This allows you to generate more innovative ideas and deliver quality and consistent customer service - things that all add up to improve your bottom line. By having an optimized communications infrastructure, you can enhance the way you conduct business and boost your productivity levels.

No matter the size or industry of your business, there will always be a time when you have to reach someone inside or outside your network. And the key to doing so efficiently depends on your communications technology. Our unified communications and collaboration solutions can help you build connections faster and maximize your true potential. By getting everyone on the same page, your workforce can grow to be unstoppable.

Increased Collaboration Can Empower Your Workforce

Employees work better when they are in a collaborative and supportive environment. When your employees effectively communicate with each other or their customers, they are able to have a clearer vision of what needs to be accomplished and a better understanding of how to do so. Knowing how to improve your performance to better meet the expectations of your client is a major key to success. According to Clear Company HRM, 86% of employees and executives cite lack of collaboration or ineffective communication for workplace failures. Increased collaboration goes hand-in-hand with providing enhanced customer service and, without it, we'd never have room for innovation and growth.

“Your organization’s success depends on its ability to communicate and collaborate effectively in the workplace.”

But engaging in face-to-face communication may not always be feasible or cost-effective. That’s where our communications solutions in web, video conferencing, mobility, and voice come in! With our extensive collaboration tools and services, employees can get a uniform experience to carry out business from any device at any time. Regardless of your location or device preference, you can collaborate and share information with clients and fellow employees instantly – without the time or travel costs!

Accomplish More with Our Vast Collaboration Tools

In today's fast-paced world, employees are always on the go. And that means you need more than one means of communication to do your job. Unified communications allows you to take your office with you wherever you go - so you can readily connect with others to share ideas and make critical decisions.

Extend your communication and collaboration efforts beyond the office doors. Pavelcomm will deliver a scalable, cloud-based communications infrastructure to help you connect with employees, partners, vendors, and customers more efficiently. That way you can get more done in less time.

Did you know... By the end of 2015, "60% of all North American enterprises will move at least 30% of their voice communication to the cloud.
